Trevor Pruitt, Associate, Skillful - Colorado Andrew Palmer, Advanced Manufacturing Program Manager, CareerWise

The current and looming labor shortage #1 one growth-inhibitor faced by manufacturers in Colorado AND in the USA. To thrive, manufacturers need to fill today's open positions and build a healthy, long-term talent pipeline. Learn how skills-based hiring can help you attract the talent your company needs to fill today's open positions.

Got apprentices? If not, learn the apprenticeship strategies that companies like yours use to build your long-term talent pipeline. Join Trevor and Andrew to learn practical and affordable strategies you need to fill your talent pipeline.

How to STOP the COP-OUT Syndrome & Build a Culture of 11:00 - 11:45 AM Ownership in Your Organization: A 4-Part Framework for Manufacturers & Supply Chain Companies

Christina Haxton, MA LMFT, Chief Potential Officer, The Center for Sustainable Strategies http://sustainable-leaders.com

The Successful Manufacturing Company's Conundrum: Are you writing checks your team cannot cash because they "cop out" (i.e., blame, point fingers or don't take initiative) when the pressure is on?

What if ... You were presented with a huge opportunity to expand your services or products What if ... You were facing a threat by your biggest competitor or a disruption in the marketplace? What if ... Your team doesn't have the skills to execute your growth strategy?

Christina will share insights, strategies and best practices from interviews with executives and CEOs of successful Colorado companies who are building a Culture of Ownership so they can answer "Yes!" to opportunities with confidence and trust their people won't drop the ball. You will learn why COP-OUT happens (it's not what you think), why having an Ownership Culture can help you attract and retain top talent and a 4-part framework you can use to build Ownership Culture in your company - because it's not a matter of IF, but WHEN the "What if ..." happens. Will you and your company be ready?
